Announcement

New rates for 1961 are posted on today's Classified Advertising Page.

The new schedule represents the first increase in Hope Star's Classified Advertising rates in 15 years, and the first increase in Standing Card rates in 5 years. Over the years The Star's circulation base has increased — being 3,616 today — and an increase in the Classified Page rates was necessary to bring them into line with today's circulation and newspaper production costs.

Present Classified insertion contracts will be honored at the old rates to their expiration dates, of course.

No other advertising rate changes are planned.

Congressional Rules Battle Is Indicated

WASHINGTON (AP)—The new Congress convened today already embroiled in a liberal vs. conservative struggle such as clearly will be waged over much of President-elect John F. Kennedy's program.

In both Senate and House, Democrats who call themselves liberals were bidding for a bigger voice in charting the legislative course to be followed in the next two years.

House insurgents want to break up a coalition of conservative Democrats and Republicans on the Rules Committee which has managed in the past to block or delay legislation not to their liking.

In this project, they had the support of Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas. One possible move was reported to be a purge of Rep. William Colmer, D-Miss., from the committee.

Reports were circulated that four Mississippi members of the House who failed to support the Democratic ticket last November may be disciplined.

The four are Colmer, Jamie Whitten, Arthur Winstead and John Bell Williams.

One member of Congress who declined to be quoted by name said that under present plans the four Mississippians are either to be removed from their committees or to have their committee seniority reduced.

In a party caucus, House Republicans apparently decided to wait and see what the Democrats do about the Rules Committee before taking a stand of their own.

Rep. Charles A. Halleck, R-Ind., re-elected House leader by the Republicans, said the caucus was largely routine. In addition to picking Halleck, the caucus again named Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin chairman of the GOP Policy Committee, and Rep. Charles B. Hoeven of Iowa chairman of the Republican Conference.

A resolution presented by seven Republicans calling for a repudiation of any coalition between Republicans and Southern Democrats during the congressional session was shunted to the Policy Committee by a voice vote.

As expected, Senate Republicans re-elected Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois as their leader. They also re-elected the other GOP senators who held party posts in the last session.

Senate Democrats named Mike Mansfield of Montana as their floor leader, succeeding Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the vice president-elect. Johnson resigned his Senate seat shortly after the new Congress convened.

Mansfield has been whip, or assistant leader, under Johnson.

To succeed Mansfield, the Senate Democrats tapped Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota.

Galleries in both Senate and House were packed when gavels finally rapped to start the session.

Tension Mounts in Belgium in New Disorders

By EDDY GILMORE

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—Police and strikers clashed today in the streets of Brussels and in at least two other cities when demonstrators answered a Socialist-led union call for nationwide rallies.

State policemen mounted a sabbath charge to clear a Brussels square of demonstrators who had shouted insults at them.

They were part of a parade of 9,000 marchers in the capital's main streets.

Twelve civilians were hurt in Antwerp when police waded into a parade of 10,000 strikers who began smashing windows.

The Belgian state radio said tersely that "Toumai state policemen were overwhelmed. The broadcast gave no details of the trouble at Toumai."

Five thousand demonstrated at Liege smashed some store fronts. Miners at that industrial city of the German frontier threatened to flood the mines.

The new demonstrations against Premier Gaston Eyskens' austerity program were timed just ahead of the reopening of Parliament, which will resume debate on the proposals.

The strikers, entering their third week of protest, claim the proposed tax raises and cuts in social services will fall heaviest on the workers.

With the Socialists calling for mass demonstrations in every city of the country, soldiers were on duty at every strategic point. Power plants, railroads and public buildings all had their quota of khaki-uniformed men, determined to prevent sabotage.

The strike went on much as it has during the past weeks, with only part of the labor force heeding the Socialist call. Slightly less than half of the country's trade union membership is enrolled in the Socialist unions; the rest belong to Catholic unions who oppose the strike and call it a revolutionary attempt to overthrow Eyskens' Catholic-Conservative coalition.

Ex-Official Applies for a Parole

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Former Garland County Tax Collector Ray Owen of Hot Springs has asked for a parole from the state prison farm but his application won't be acted on until Feb. 1, State Parole Director W. P. Ball said today.

Owen entered the penitentiary last Oct. 2 to serve a one-year sentence growing out of a now-repaid shortage of more than $11,000 in his official accounts.

He isn't eligible for parole until he has served one-third of the term—or four months—but his parole application already is on file, Ball said.

The one-third rule means that Owen couldn't be released until Feb. 2 if the Parole Board should act favorably on his application, Ball pointed out.

The Parole Board will hold its January meeting Wednesday but will not act on the Owen application then.

The board meets regularly on the first Wednesday of each month. Next month that will be Feb. 1.

Owen pleaded guilty last Sept. 15 to a charge of misuse of public funds. He pleaded "no contest" to two other charges.

Circuit Judge P. E. Dobbs sentenced Owen to five years imprisonment on each of the three counts but suspended four years of each and directed that the terms run concurrently.

Boycot at New Orleans About Same

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The white boycott of New Orleans integrated schools weakened only a little today after the 10-day holiday vacation.

Twelve white children and one Negro girl attended classes at William Frantz School. Eight white children attended prior to the Christmas vacation.

But, at McDonogh No. 19 School three Negro girls had the three-story school to themselves—just as it was before Christmas.

U.S. deputy marshals still escorted children into the two schools. There were no demonstrations in the biting 40-plus degree chill.

With the holidays over, the New Orleans School Board renewed its struggle to find money to pay teachers, who have missed one of the last two paychecks.

The Orleans parish school board is scheduled to receive bids Jan. 9 on a $12,750,000 loan.

The board has asked the State Bond and Tax Board to authorize the loan. School board funds have been tied up in litigation involving the state and federal governments and the school board.

Former Arkansans Escape Injury

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—Texas Blue football player Don Waygood, his wife and his father-in-law escaped injury when their private plane made a forced landing at the Pine Bluff Airport today.

The plane was damaged.

Dillard Breeding and Mrs. Breeding are natives of Hope.

Mrs. Breeding is the daughter of Mrs. W. E. Jones and the sister of James H. and Raymond Jones of Hope.

The pilot, Dillard Breeding of Nashville, Tenn., father of Mrs. Waygood, had taken off from the airport to resume the journey from Nashville to Lubbock, Tex., the site of Texas Tech, when the single engine quit at about 200 feet.

Breeding made a sharp turn back to the field and a belly landing. The plane skidded several hundred feet on heavily-frosted ground.

The party chartered another plane and continued the trip.

Waygood, a 24-year-old senior from Sundown, Tex., was starting end and co-captain on last season's Tech football squad.

Officers Trying to Identify Torso

MALVERN, Ark. (AP)—Police Chief Bill Funk said today he and other Hot Spring County officers were seeking to determine if a torso found in a well near Mena last Friday may be that of a missing Perla man.

Relatives of Albert Griffin, about 65, a Negro, said he disappeared in late October. He customarily carried several hundred dollars on his person, they said. They asked for the official check.

Griffin was described as light skinned and his body might be mistaken for that of a white man, Funk said.

Only the torso was found in the well.

Paratroopers Seize City in Laos From Communist Forces

Thinks Quick Action in Laos Will Halt Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States today accused the Soviet Union and North Vietnamese Communists of airlifting "extensive air materials" and "substantial numbers" of North Vietnamese Communists into Laos in support of Red Rebels there.

The State Department issued the accusation "in view of the seriousness of the current situation in Laos." It said it has "hard evidence" that Soviet and North Vietnamese transport planes have made at least 180 flights into Laos since Dec. 15.

The State Department said Soviet planes brought howitzers, ammunition, gasoline and combat rations, and other war material, into Vientiane before the Laotian capital was recaptured by government forces Dec. 14.

North Vietnamese soldiers were also parachuted or landed to help rebel Capt. Kong Le's forces outside Vientiane, the United States said.

Joseph W. Reap, State Department press officer, said the U.S. evidence did not include a finding that Soviet personnel themselves were flying the invading aircraft.

The department's announcement came after President Eisenhower held another high level conference at which he received additional intelligence reports on the Laos situation.

Eisenhower Monday approved stepped-up military readiness in the Pacific.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr., Deputy Secretary of Defense James H. Dugan, Central Intelligence Director Allen W. Dulles, and Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, headed the group calling at the White House this morning.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said Laos was among several matters taken up at the conference.

Hagerty reiterated to newsmen today that the government regards the situation in Laos as grave.

In advance of today's meeting, Eisenhower was represented as convinced that fast and clear action is the best way to avoid any Communist commitment to aggression in Laos, but he was said to be hopeful of a solution short of military intervention by outside powers.

On Saturday, after word arrived here of what the Laotian government said was an invasion by seven battalions from neighboring Communist North Viet Nam, Eisenhower met with his top diplomatic, military and intelligence advisers.

That afternoon the United States issued a public warning to North Vietnam to stop its invasion.

Rail Engines Have to Be Left Running

Two officials of the Louisiana-Arkansas Railroad Co. — L. K. Lloyd, trainmaster, Minden, La., and W. H. Brumby, master mechanic of Shreveport — were in Hope recently in connection with complaints about leaving the diesel train engines operating.

They explained that it was necessary to leave the engines operating because of serious mechanical difficulties which arise when the engine is allowed to get cold and that the cost of fuel was minor when compared to the difficulties they encounter by frequent stops of engine of this type.

Complaints from the neighbors arose largely because of the vibration created by the idling engines. The railroad officials explained that they are going to experiment by leaving the engine on different sections of the switch track to see if there is some spot where the ground conditions will help to eliminate the vibration.

They promised the people in the neighboring homes that they'd do everything they could to lessen the annoyance caused by the engines.

City Police report that early Jan. 1, some 16 gallons of gas was siphoned from Clifford Russell's auto on Main Street.

Hempstead Memorial Hospital reports the first baby born in 1961 is the son of Robert and Eola Ellis, Negro residents of Hope Rt. 4. The baby was born at 8:30 a.m. Jan. 2.

Traffic Toll Lower Than Year Ago

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Traffic deaths 338
Fires 66
Miscellaneous 78
Total 482

The New Year's holiday traffic death toll stood at 338 today with straggling reports expected to boost the final figure even higher.

The actual count of death compared with a preholiday estimate by the National Safety Council that 340 lives might be lost in vehicle accidents during the long holiday weekend.

The count for the 78-hour holiday period ended at midnight Monday. At that time deaths in traffic accidents reported numbered 333. However, as in all major holiday traffic surveys, final figures are not reported for several hours after the midnight deadline.

The death rate eased during the closing hours of the long New Year weekend, apparently averting what safety experts feared would be a record for a three-day celebration of the holiday.

The record toll was 374 traffic fatalities a year ago.

This New Year's holiday also was marred by scores of other accidental deaths, including 66 in fires and 78 in miscellaneous mishaps for an over-all total of 482.

The totals compared to 63 fire deaths and 76 killed in miscellaneous accidents a year ago. The 1959-60 over-all total of 513 is a record for a 3-day New Year holiday.

In advance of today's meeting, Eisenhower was represented as convinced that fast and clear action is the best way to avoid any Communist commitment to aggression in Laos, but he was said to be hopeful of a solution short of military intervention by outside powers.

Pro-Western Government Is Holding Own

By RENE-GEORGES INAGAKI

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Prince Boun Oun's government announced today that its forces recaptured the key northeastern city of Xiengkhouang from pro-Communist rebels Monday night.

Information Minister Bouavan Norasing said the city was retaken by a battalion of paratroopers that jumped 3½ miles east of Xiengkhouang.

Norasing's announcement was the government's first admission that the rebels had taken Xiengkhouang. The minister said Tuesday troops loyal to his pro-Western government were holding out at Ban Ban, 30 miles northeast of Xiengkhouang, and that as far as he knew the key city had not fallen to the rebels who last week seized the strategic Plain de Jarres, with its cross-country highway, and an airfield outside Xiengkhouang.

A U. S. Embassy spokesman in Bangkok said the United States has evacuated from Vientiane "all American personnel whose activities were restricted" by the crisis. He added that personnel attached to the U. S. Information Service and other agencies are going back to Vientiane in what he described as a "two-way movement."

The spokesman said most of the 200 Americans evacuated from Laos in the past two days were U. S. aid administrators whose activities were hampered by the fighting in central Laos.

Ambassadors of the eight nations forming the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) met in Bangkok, capital of neighboring Thailand, with SEATO Secretary-General Pote Sarasin. The ambassadors, who included U. Alexis Johnson of the United States, took no action.

Kennedy Has Show Me Attitude

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy appears to be taking a "show me" — although polite attitude toward Soviet Premier Khrushchev's bid for new and reasonable relations between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Such an attitude seems evident in Kennedy's New Year's Day reply to the Kremlin leader, as well as in his remarks at a news conference Sunday.

Kennedy expressed hope that relations between the two nations, now gravely strained, will be marked by good will in the months ahead. But he had no comment on Khrushchev's offer to bury the hatchet over the U2 spy plane episode.

On New Year's Eve Khrushchev sent Kennedy holiday greetings in a message which also said: "We hope that the relations between the U.S.A. and the U.S.S.R. will develop in the new year on a new and reasonable basis, the basis of common desire of the peoples of our countries for peace and friendship."

Kennedy said he had sent this reply: "Appreciate greatly your new year's greetings and express the hope that in the coming months relations between our two countries will be marked by goodwill and a common desire for peace."

As for the U2 episode, the Soviet news agency Tass said Khrushchev brought up the matter when he "recalled a statement made by Mr. Kennedy during the U.S. election campaign that if he were president he would express his regret to the Soviet government over the U2 plane flight."

In other developments over the weekend, Kennedy:

1. Picked a Negro crusader for civil rights to be chief of the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency. The high level job went to Robert C. Weaver, vice chairman of New York City's Housing and Redevelopment Board.

2. Ignored a protest by Massachusetts Gov. Foster Furcolo and chose Harvard Dean McGeorge Bundy to serve as his White House assistant on national security matters. The governor of Kennedy's home state called Bundy unqualified for the job and said it was incredible that Kennedy even had considered him.

3. Reported he had offered a position in the new administration to Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., son of the late president, but that Roosevelt told him he "has some obligations" and wanted time to think about the offer.

4. Appointed Boiesfeillet Jones to be a special assistant on health and medical matters in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Jones, vice president and administrator of health services at Emory University, Atlanta, Ga., will serve under Abraham Ribicoff, Connecticut governor named by Kennedy to be secretary of welfare.

Glamour Is a Lonesome Thing--- (3)

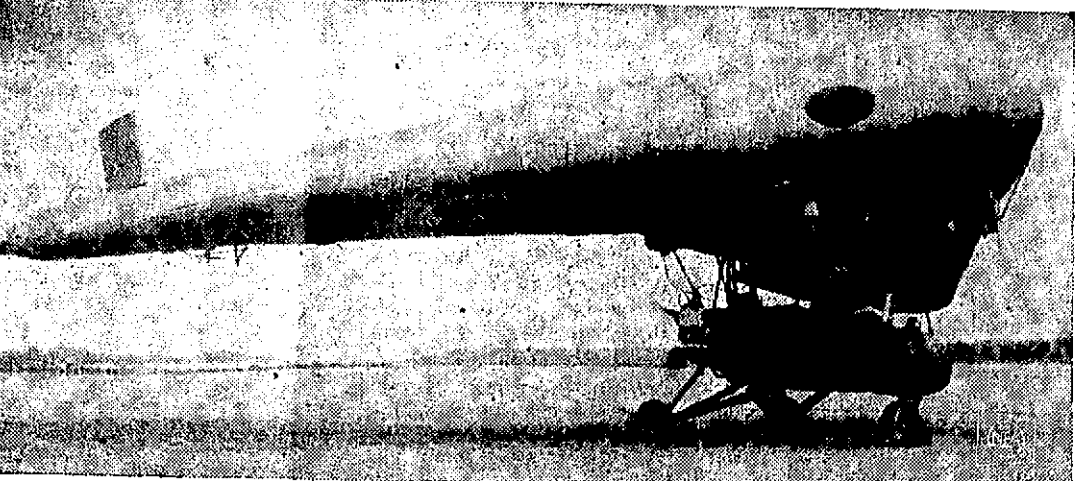

Marilyn married noted playwright Arthur Miller in 1956. This was it, said the carpers and the critics. This was the marriage that was to last. And, for four years, that seemed to be the picture.

Marilyn returned to her studies, this time at the Actors Studio in New York. Her star was high in the filmed heavens. Miller even wrote a play for her, "The Misfits." But her personal life was marred by three miscarriages. A move to Hollywood in '58 brought filming of "Let's Make Love" and "The Misfits"—and a growing coolness between Miller and Marilyn. They returned to New York separately in the chill of November, 1960.

Shortly thereafter, Marilyn waved goodbye to a marriage as she announced a separation and that she'd seek a divorce.

GOPs Term Ruling a 'Whitewash'

WASHINGTON (AP)—A finding that attorney Thomas G. Corcoran did not attempt to influence the Federal Power Commission was described in a Republican minority report today as a "shocking political whitewash."

The minority report took issue with the findings of the House Legislative Oversight subcommittee and its staff. The group goes out of existence today with formal submission of its final report, to which the Republican statement was a dissent.

The minority report did not directly accuse Corcoran of wrongdoing, but said his conduct was "obviously improper." The Republican statement, while dissenting from parts of the subcommittee report, hit out particularly at a report issued two weeks ago by the subcommittee staff.

In addition to clearing Corcoran of any impropriety, the staff report accused two big government regulatory agencies of laxity and inefficiency harmful to the public interest. It also alleged possible misconduct by some officials of the two agencies—the Civil Aeronautics Board and the Interstate Commerce Commission. The officials were not identified.

As for Corcoran, a powerful "White House figure during New Deal days, the staff report said he did nothing improper in privately contacting FCC members during a big gas pipeline case in 1959.

Bitterly dissenting, the Republican statement said: "The majority and its staff have sought to exonerate one of Washington's best known influence peddlers."

Corcoran, a Washington attorney for Midwestern Gas Transmission Co., testified at subcommittee hearings last May that he approached three FCC members late in 1959 in an effort to expedite a decision on the company's request for authorization for a new pipeline system.

Corcoran emphatically denied, however, that he sought to influence the commission.

Kennedy to Meet With McNamara

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy will confer in New York Wednesday with Secretary of Defense-designate Robert S. McNamara and will meet in Washington Friday with Dean Rusk, chosen to be secretary of state.

Announcing this today, Kennedy headquarters said the primary purpose of the conferences is discussion of organization of the two departments in the new administration.

Press secretary Pierre Salinger said Kennedy has no plans to make any trips out of the country for at least six or seven months after he takes office. Salinger added he did not mean to indicate that visits abroad can be expected after that period, but rather that Kennedy expects to be too busy for the first few months of his administration to stray far from Washington.

U. S. to Study Cuban Demand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials said today the government has officially received, and will take under study, Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro's demand for a slash of the U.S. Embassy staff in Havana.

Possibilities in the way of U.S. retaliation included a breakdown in U.S.-Cuban relations and a cut-back in the Cuban government staff in this country.

"The United States has no choice but to reduce its representation in a foreign country when the government of that country demands it, and vice versa."

Castro said he wants the U.S. Embassy staff cut to 11 persons, which he contended would be the same number that Cuba maintains in Washington.

Youths Play Prank in Racial Fuss

SOMERVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The district attorney general said today three white youths fired a gun loaded with blanks to create the second "shooting" incident at a Negro sharecropper tent village near here.

The incident occurred last Friday night. The sharecroppers, on the alert after an earlier shooting, answered with shotgun and rifle fire. No one was hurt.

Dist. Atty. gen. Will Tom Abernathy said the youths fired three times from their car with a trick stage gun loaded with blanks. There was no way the gun could have been loaded with real bullets, he said.

He said he gave them a stern lecture and released them.

In the first incident, a shot apparently fired from a passing car hit a Negro sharecropper in the arm. That investigation is still under way.

The tent village houses the families of nine sharecroppers who claim they were evicted from their farm homes because they registered to vote. They were among some 700 sharecroppers in Fayette and neighboring Haywood Counties ordered evicted by white landowners who said their mechanized farms no longer needed hand labor.

The government blocked the mass evictions, set for Jan. 1, by emergency court orders pending a hearing on its civil rights suit against the landowners.

Meanwhile, Abernathy issued a warning that "neither violence nor inflammatory statements by any one would be tolerated under present conditions." He added that leaders of the tent village movement were among the number "to whom this warning is directed."

nouncing his resignation from the Senate.

In the House, clerk Ralph Roberts called the session to order. For the moment, Rayburn, the elderly Texan who has presided over the House for more years than any other man in history, was just another newly elected member of Congress.

With each new Congress, the House starts afresh on adopting rules and electing officers.

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 87th Congress opens today with Democratic insurgents in both Senate and House demanding changes in the way their business is run.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., had a resolution ready for a Democratic caucus before the noon opening session. The resolution provides for filling all vacancies on the policy and steering committees by direct vote of senators.

The House controversy involved the stranglehold the conservative Rules Committee has on what legislation can be considered by the House.

Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas Monday agreed that this road block to many liberal measures must be broken down—if necessary by purging Rep. William Colmer, D-Miss., from the committee.

Colmer, who did not support President-elect John F. Kennedy in the campaign, and Chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va., often have voted with four conservative Republican committee members to block the kind of legislation Kennedy is pledged to support. It was not at all certain the House Democratic caucus would knock Colmer off the committee, however, or that the entire House would sustain the action if it did.

Gore's resolution in the Senate caucus seemed likely to be resisted by Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., who is scheduled to be elected by the caucus as majority leader, succeeding Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas. Johnson was expected to resign immediately after being sworn in for a new Senate term, in order to become vice president on Jan. 20.

The policy move crossed the lines of an effort by a group to revise the Senate's anti-filibuster rule. Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., was prepared to move at the opening session for the adoption of a new rule to ease the present requirement for approval by two-thirds of those voting before debate can be cut off.

Anderson's proposal would be to permit 60 per cent of the senators to gag a filibuster. Others planned to offer an amendment to let a simple majority accomplish this end.

Gore said he would not support a change in the filibuster rule. Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., backed Gore's policy move but said he also will oppose changing the debate limitation requirement.

Republicans, caucusing to re-elect Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois as minority leader and other party leaders, expected to take no party position on the anti-filibuster rule fight.

It was the general understanding the Senate would swear in and re-elect members today and postpone argument on the rule until Wednesday.

Mansfield strove to avoid a lengthy controversy over the anti-filibuster rule that might churn up later opposition to the legislative program of President-elect John F. Kennedy.

He said proponents and opponents of an immediate change in the rules should have reasonable time to debate it. But he added "I would like to see the matter decided this week."

Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala. said he thinks those seeking to change the debate rule are making a mistake.

"A prolonged fight over this would leave its impact on the Kennedy program," Sparkman said. "I think we ought to get going on that program."

Sen. Spessard L. Holland of Fla., agreed. He said he and other Southern Democrats "want to go along with the new president's program, if we can in good conscience."

As majority leader, Mansfield would be in a position to halt the debate by moving to table (kill) the Anderson resolution and amendments offered to it.

Involved in the controversy is the contention of rule change backers that the Senate must adopt a new set of rules at the beginning of each Congress. Despite support of this view by Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the Senate several times has refused to approve this contention.

The effort to elect policy committee members instead of having them appointed by the majority leader also has been defeated in the past.

Tweed is used (left) for this handsome double-breasted coat with smooth notched collar of sheared beaver. Texture of the tweed is that of a shadow plaid. Gently curved and flared, this coat (center) is exactly sealed to the proportions of the small woman. It's done in soft fleece and in a new shade which is almost white. This beautiful coat (right) has a wedding band collar of mink mounted on a silhouette with princess lines. Many small women feel that fur can be overpowering, but this design solves the problem. No Peace When Sister Screams

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: My father is out of a job and my mother works. I have to baby sit for my sisters every weekend. When I ask them for help on the dishes or other housework, they throw a fit.

My older sister has a terrible temper and screams at the top of her lungs at me until she's red in the face. Once in desperation I hit her. Tonight she had a tantrum. When I came to my senses, I found myself on my knees screaming too, pounding the wall and shouting, "Shut up!" until I was hoarse.

When I mentioned this to mom, she said, "I suppose I'll have to quit my job, stay home and keep peace in the family." Help me! —A.B.

Dear A.B.: The family tension will ease once your father lands a job. Your mother instinctively hit upon the answer to your problem. Her place is with her growing family. Putting the responsibility of support where it belongs, on your father, will force him to take any work he can find, which would be all to the good for his family and his own self-respect.

Talk this over with him and your mother. Be constructive. Just because your sister acts the baby is no reason for you to give way to hysterics too.

Dear Helen: I reside several hundred miles from my parents' home. Occasionally I drive down to visit them on long weekends.

Is it proper for my parents to invite my girl friend on such an occasion? We are soon to be engaged.

My girl's mother objects though she gives no reason. My girl friend is over 21 and would like to meet my folks. But since she lives at home, her mother's continual objections have caused her to doubt whether it is proper, and I am even becoming confused by all the fuss. Please set us straight. —Socially Confused

Therefore, the decision of whether or not she can visit your parents lies with her, not her mother. If she wants to go, she should go. To let her mother decide for her backs ill for your future happiness together.

Socially, it is entirely proper for her to go with you to visit your parents.

Dear Helen:

I am 16 but you wouldn't believe it because I'm so short. The boys by-pass me as a result. How can I get through to them? —A.A.

Dear A.A.: Be your best self; head high, chin up, shoulders squared to really take life in your stride. Be sought after instead of seeking. It shouldn't be a question of how to "get through" to the boys. Let them worry about how to "get through" to you!

Nasser Gets an Ovation in Morocco

CASABLANCA, Morocco (AP)—

President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic drew a tremendous ovation from Moroccan crowds today as African leaders arrived for a summit conference on the Congo.

Several hours after Nasser arrived aboard his private yacht the leaders of Guinea, Ghana and Mali landed aboard a Soviet-built airliner from Conakry, capital of Guinea.

The premier of the Algerian nationalist government in exile, Ferhat Abbas, arrived aboard a plane from Madrid. This completed the makeup of the conference.

Although travel delays postponed the formal opening of the four-day meeting, probably until Wednesday, the leaders probably will get together for informal sessions tonight.

Members include the United States, Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, the Philippines, Thailand and Pakistan.

Monday the Pentagon announced—with White House backing—orders to step up the readiness of U.S. forces in the Pacific, including fast-moving airlift capability, "in view of the present situation in Laos."

Press secretary James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower had approved the move "in light of the SEATO obligations."

He spoke after the President had finished another White House session with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, Undersecretary Livingston T. Merchant, Acting Secretary of Defense James H. Douglas, Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Central Intelligence Director Allen W. Dulles.

King Mohamed V, as host to the conference, greeted Nasser at the docks and then in the afternoon drove out to the big American airbase at Nouasseur to greet Presidents Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana, Sekou Toure of Guinea and Modibo Keita of Mali.

The crew of their Ghana Airways Ilushin B1 was all Russian. The plane was granted special permission to land at Nouasseur, which has a longer runway than other Casablanca fields.

State Trooper Glen Minton said about 150 to 200 persons were at an arena at the Oster home. Officers said two roosters were in the pit when they arrived on the

Mr. and Mrs. Oster are due for Municipal Court hearings Wednesday. Fightmaster and Jumper were allowed to forfeit cash bonds of $107.00.

Employment to Get Top Priority

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—

President elect John F. Kennedy has stamped a top priority label on a program recommending an arsenal of weapons for attacking the problem of chronic unemployment in depression areas.

The program, outlined by a study committee headed by Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., calls for cash basis, action to provide swift relief for the needy and for long-term measures aimed at wiping out the problem.

At a joint news conference Sunday with Douglas, Kennedy called the report of the committee he created an excellent one, and added: "It is a problem which I think deserves the most important domestic priority."

In its unanimous report, the 22-member Douglas committee called for the fastest possible action to provide food, funds, public work and other relief for the stricken areas.

The committee's long-term program for elimination of depression pockets is a broad-based blueprint for encouraging new industries into such areas and for expansion of those already on the scene.

At the New Year's Day news conference at Kennedy's home, Douglas singled out two recommendations as the most important. One calls for nearly doubling the amount of surplus food the government is supplying to destitute families. The other urges speedy new enactment of an area redevelopment bill - patterned after the two Eisenhower voted—

Posse Gets Robbers in Piggott Area

PIGGOTT, Ark. (AP)—A storekeeper and two armed robbers were wounded in an exchange of gunfire in a general store near here Monday night.

Four men and boys, two of them wounded, were rounded up later and held without formal charge.

Officers said Frank Speer, 24, and his brother De Wayne Speer, 21, were wounded, as was storekeeper Ira Harris, 58.

Besides the Speer brothers, those arrested were Jerry Don Nelson, 17, and Dennis Mefflin, 19.

The Speer brothers were taken into custody four hours after the holdup and Nelson and Mefflin an hour after that.

Harris was hospitalized at Kennett, Mo., with shotgun wounds in the legs and abdomen. Frank Speer was hospitalized with bullet wounds in the shoulder and neck. De Wayne Speer was treated for a jaw wound.

Clay County Deputy Sheriff Joe Largent said three holdup men entered the store, about nine miles southeast of here, while the fourth remained outside in a car.

Two of those who entered the store carried shotguns, Largent said.

Harris' wife and a customer, Normal Dortch, were in the store when the three entered. Dortch and Mrs. Harris were ordered to lie on the floor.

Dortch's billfold was taken and the cash register was rifled. Amount of money lost was not determined.

Largent said Harris was in the living quarters at the rear of the store at the time. He said the storekeeper heard the commotion, grabbed a pistol and ran into the store.

Harris fell in an exchange of gunfire with the three, who then ran from the store and fled in the waiting car.

Largent said the Speer brothers were taken into custody at De Wayne Speer's home four miles south of here. Nelson was picked up at his home at Rector. Mefflin was captured at a house near to provide mainly for low interest loans to attract new industries and permit expansion of old ones in depression regions.

The redevelopment program is only one segment of the committee's proposals. In Washington, private estimates put the total cost of the proposals at a half billion dollars or more.

The committee outlined four steps it called imperative to ease immediate hardship.

1. Presidential action to provide more surplus commodities for needy areas — such additional items as butter, oatmeal and peanut butter; presidential and congressional action to permit purchase of non-surplus food needed to provide a better diet.

2. A temporary emergency program to give unemployment compensation benefits for hundreds of thousands of wage earners who have exhausted benefits under current state programs. This additional compensation would be through federal grants rather than loans.

3. Enactment of legislation to provide grants to states to help finance relief payments to needy who cannot obtain further unemployment compensation benefits.

4. A program of emergency public works projects.

On the long-term side, in addition to the area redevelopment legislation, the committee urged channeling more government contracts in depressed areas.

BIG LITTLE BRITISHERS—Eight of Great Britain's most famous sons turn up in miniature colored plaster figures in London. Make-up sculptor Vincent Apap created the caricatures. From left are Archbishop of Canterbury, Clement Attlee, the late Aneurin Bevan, Lord Morrison, Sir Anthony Eden, Viscount Montgomery, Earl Mountbatten and Sir Winston Churchill. The statuettes are the property of Prince Philip who loaned them for exhibition to the public.

Chapter XXXX

Arrington found the place where the bullet had entered Tex-Mex's body, and studied its course.

He wiped the blade of a big jackknife on his levis, and put the knife in his pocket. "He was hit in the side," he said, and held a bulbous looking piece of lead for them to see. "It's no Sharps, Wagner."

"They burned the shed," Bart said. "They've been trying to burn the house."

"You have evidence to support it?"

Bart was slow answering. "It looks as if it's my word against Xenophon Jones's," he said.

"We're trying to establish law," Arrington said. "We start wherever we can."

Bart said harshly, "And you're taking me in."

Arrington's eyes went flat. "We'll go back to the house and I'll give you your six-shooters and an even draw," he said.

Bart said, "I don't like drawing on a Texas Ranger. That's not saying I won't," he added quickly. "But I don't like it."

"Then it will be up to a jury. You know that as well as I do," Meantime, Jones is running loose."

"Meantime also," said Arrington, "we are showing everybody we mean business, and we are creating respect for the law."

"Where will you be Monday?"

"No telling," said Arrington. Bart said sarcastically, "Maybe you could do better to turn your talents to seeing that court is held properly and without intimidation."

Arrington sighed. "Maybe I could — but I can't take a hand unless the judge asks me, and he isn't going to ask me, because he doesn't believe it's as bad in the Panhandle as everybody tells him."

Bart picked up the shovel. "Let's get him covered up."

Later, they ate fast and silently, with Catherine sitting at the end of the table.

"Who's going to keep Xenophon Jones from burning the Quarter Circle J B while I'm gone?" Bart asked.

Arrington said, "Jones promised me that he and his men would leave her alone until you had a chance to get back from your preliminary hearing."

Catherine asked indignantly, "Are you taking the word of an outlaw?"

"Maam — Arrington pushed his hat to the back of his head. 'Until I get a conviction against Xenophon Jones, I can't assume him in the act or I have to probably as much of an outlaw as he is said to be, but in the eyes of the law, either I have to see him in the act or I have to get a legal conviction. When that happens, then I can assume he's as bad as they claim he is. But to start with, all men are innocent as far as the law is concerned."

Catherine went toward the curtain. As Arrington struck a match, Catherine's voice came from behind him: "Hands up, Captain. Don't reach for your six-shooters or I'll plow a big hole through you."

Arrington moved his head slowly to take her in: a small, brown-eyed woman with glossy black hair, holding a big buffalo rifle with unmistakable menace. "Wagner," said Arrington, "can't you persuade her to put that thing down?"

Bart could not restrain a grin. "She's a very determined woman, Captain."

Arrington began to look a little harassed. "Look here, Wagner, you know better than that."

"I know better than to take an innocent man to Clarendon, too."

Rehabilitation Center Opened

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) —

Ten students entered the Hot Springs Rehabilitation Center today, formally opening one of the country's most complete facilities for vocational rehabilitation of physically handicapped persons.

Six more students will be admitted Wednesday. Other students will be enrolled each week until the center in the former Army-Navy Hospital reaches its capacity of nearly 50 students.

About 100 students are expected to be enrolled by March 1. Conversion of the former hospital began last summer after it was turned over to the state by spense. Arrington's dry voice came from behind her: "All right."

Catherine fought herself free from Bart's arms and struggled with the rifle. But Bart put his big hand on the barrel and turned it away. Arrington said thoughtfully, "I'll ask Godnight to keep an eye on the J B until you get back."

"What makes you think I'm coming back?"

"With her waitin' for you," he said, "you'd be crazy not to."

Duke Edges Porkers 7 to 6 in Cotton Bowl

By HAROLD V. RATLIFE

DALLAS (AP) — Lonesome end Tee Moorman, the top of Art Browning and some little things turned into breaks vindicated Duke's angry Blue Devils with a 7-6 victory over Arkansas in the Cotton Bowl.

The dagger Blue Devils, driving to atone for defeats in their last two games of the regular season, waited until the clock had nearly run its course Monday before they rolled 73 yards for the touchdown that gave them the triumph in their first appearance in the Cotton Bowl.

For a month the lonesome end of Duke, a big fellow who lined up 15 yards away from his mates on every down, had been the major topic. Coach Frank Broyles had told how he feared this man-cruiser and how tough it would be to stop it.

Broyles was a southsaver—it was the lonesome end, Moorman, who kept that desperate drive going and it was Moorman, a lonely man in the end zone, who caught Don Altman's nine-yard pass for the touchdown that broke Arkansas' heart.

Browning, the big guard, planted the ball between the goal posts for the point that won the game. It was more than Mickey Cissell, the Arkansas place-kicking ace, could do after the Arkansas touchdown. But Cissell had to contend with chunky Dave Unser, the surging Duke wingman. Unser smashed through to block the extra point effort and thwart Arkansas in its third try for victory in the Cotton Bowl.

Little things? In the second period Arkansas was on the Duke 27-yard line despite two 15-yard penalties. George McKinney passed to Jim Collier standing on the two-yard line. The ball grazed Collier's finger tips and Don Altman, the brilliant Duke quarterback, found the ball in his hands in the end zone for a touchdown.

Three times Arkansas moved into Duke territory in the first half and Duke could get into Razorback land just once, then on a recovered fumble. Yet Arkansas couldn't score.

Early in the third period Arkansas pushed from its 33 to the Duke 28 but Butch Allie, Duke center, intercepted a McKinney pass to stop a dangerous threat.

And just before Duke scored its touchdown with 2:45 left in the game, Lance Alworth, the Arkansas halfback who was voted tops for the day, overran a pass interception. He hooked at the ball as he sped by and almost habbed it. But he missed and Moorman caught it for a three-yard loss. Had Alworth taken the throw he would have been home free for a 67 yard touchdown run.

But it actually would have been something of a miracle had Alworth intercepted the pass under the circumstances.

It wasn't long after that that the lonesome end did his stuff and Duke had won the game it so desperately wanted to win to vindicate Cotton Bowl folks for picking it to play here.

A crowd of 74,000 came away remembering the lonesome end but no more than Alworth, who have them a mighty thrill in the third period when he faked a run around right end on fourth down then kicked the ball on the run for 39 yards, sending it out of bounds on the Duke two. The Blue Devils had to punt out and Alworth ran zig-zagging for 49 yards and the Arkansas touchdown.

Little things hurt Duke, too. Just before the half Billy Moore Arkansas quarterback, fumbled and guard Jean Berry of Duke recovered on the Arkansas 34. Duke moved to the Arkansas 20 on an Altman pass and runs by John Tinnell and Jack Wilson. Altman then heaved to Wilson on the five but he fumbled and Alworth recovered on the Razorback three.

Alworth fumbled the kickoff after the Duke touchdown and the Blue Devils recovered on the Arkansas 40. They ran out of time as they reached the Arkansas one-yard line with a down left to make a touchdown.

The breaks pretty well evened up and Duke finally managed to drive into Arkansas territory under its own power for the only time—and the lonesome end did the rest.

Each team got $165,000. Arkansas will keep $75,570 with the rest of its share going to the Southwest Conference for distribution to the other seven members. Duke retains half its take, with the other half—$82,500—going to the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Selected as outstanding lineman of the game was the keyman in Duke's defense, 237-pound tackle Dwight Bumgarner. Bumgarner was one of the massive men in the Duke line that finally beat Arkansas down in the fading minutes. The bulge in weight boasted by Duke—a hot topic all week—finally paid off.

Lance Blames Himself for Hog Defeat

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — "I couldn't believe it...I just couldn't believe it," said Duke quarterback Don Altman of the pass which led to a 7-6 defeat of Arkansas in the Cotton Bowl Monday.

He was saying it over and over in the Duke dressing room as the Blue Devils celebrated victory in their first Cotton Bowl game and vindication for being picked to play in it.

"The Cotton Bowl had been criticized for selecting Duke when it lost its last two games of the season. But Bill Murray, Duke coach, had said the boys were going to atone for it. They did."

Frank Broyles of Arkansas, defeated after his first loss in two bowl games since he became head coach, said the score made him believe more firmly than ever that the extra point is the most important play in football.

Dave Unser, Duke end, became the second player to block Arkansas' extra-point attempt this year when he burst through to keep Mickey Cissell's placement from going through the uprights. It was a most vital stop — Duke won when its kicker, Art Browning, sent the ball through after the Blue Devil touchdown.

"I was expecting to throw to the halfback but Tee Moorman (the Duke lonesome end) was wide open—couldn't believe it," gasped Altman.

Moorman caught the nine-yard payoff pass standing alone in the right corner of the end zone. "I was suppose to go straight down but when Lance Alworth moved with the play I cut back into the open," said Moorman. "It was a great game to win. We wanted it and we had to beat a great team to get it."

Murray said the most pleasing factor of the game was Duke's strength in the final period. Duke scored the winning points with only 2:45 left in the game. "Our boys were well conditioned and much stronger in the fourth quarter," commented Murray.

But while Duke won the game most of the praise — even from Duke—went to Alworth, whose 49-yard punt return gave Arkansas its touchdown.

"He's a great player, isn't he?" asked Murray.

Alworth, meanwhile, blamed himself for the defeat. He said his failure to intercept a pass, allowing Duke to score, and running with the ball after teammate George McKinney called for a fair catch it brought an Arkansas penalty contributed to the Arkansas loss.

The attempted pass interception Alworth spoke about came as he was in the clear and tried to clutch the ball as he went past Moorman. It might have given Arkansas a touchdown had Alworth caught it.

Ohio State Still Tops Cage Ranks

By ED CORRIGAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

Ohio State, the defending national champion, stayed at the top of the weekly Associated Press basketball rating today. What's more the Buckeyes scored the maximum number of points for the third straight week.

Of the 36 votes cast by sports writers and sportscasters across the country who vote in the poll, every one had Ohio State at the top. That gave the Buckeyes 360 points.

The Ohio State sweep was hardly unexpected. Jerry Lucas and Co. won the Holiday Festival in New York last week and in the process dumped St. John's and St. Bonaventure, both of which had been undefeated. That made Ohio State's record 9-0.

Bradley stayed in second place, but lost 15 points in the process. The Braves have a 10-0 mark and collected 304 points on the usual system of 10 points for first, 9 for second and so on down the line.

St. Bonaventure, which gave a good account of itself in dropping an 84-82 decision to Ohio State in the Holiday Festival final, remained in third place with 264 votes.

Past the big three, though, there was a wholesale shakeup. Three members of the top 10 a week ago—Indiana, St. Louis and Auburn—dropped out. Indiana took the most emphatic nose dive, spiraling all the way down from fourth.

Alworth, while holding Belting 65 on the ground, saw him make a 51 spectacular grab of a 27-yard punt return touchdown pass by Hal Spooner.

Earlier the Tigers had to snap back from a 98-yard run by end Greg Mather with an intercepted lateral.

They countered it with a 90-yard TD run by Norm Beal with an intercepted pass when Navy again threatened. A subsequent extra point by Bill Tobin put Missouri ahead for good.

Donnie Smith and Ron Taylor scored the other Missouri touchdowns in a game played before 71,217, including President-elect John F. Kennedy.

Jake Gibbs, Mississippi's All-American quarterback, scored both Mississippi touchdowns—the first before the game was five minutes old.

Duke's lonesome end, Tee Moorman, was lonesome in the Cotton Bowl end zone and quarterback Don Altman hit him with a nine-yard scoring loss in the final minutes as 7,000 looked on in Dallas.

"I was expecting to throw to the halfback but Tee Moorman was wide open—I couldn't believe it," Altman said afterward.

"I was supposed to go straight down but when (Arkansas half-back) Lance Alworth moved with the play, I cut back into the open," Moorman said.

Bowl Winners Old Miss, Duke and Missouri

By JACK CLARY

Associated Press Sports Writer

Washington's Huskies are the toast of the football world for the second consecutive year today after winning the Rose Bowl game with a sparkling display of all-around excellence against national champion Minnesota.

The Huskies, who last year swamped Big Ten champion Wisconsin 44-6 and astounded just about everyone outside the state of Washington, zipped past the Gophers Monday 17-7 to become the second team ever to succeed itself as Rose Bowl champion.

Not to be outdone in heroics was a solid 21-14 victory by Missouri over Navy, which included holding All-American back Joe Bellino to only four yards, ending Duke's and critics of its selection as a Cotton Bowl participant by upsetting Arkansas 7-6 while Mississippi struck fast and held off a desperate drive to hold off peppy Rice and win the Sugar Bowl 17-6 as nearly 400,000 watched the four games in person and millions more saw them on television.

The Huskies used the same cast of characters who appeared in the Wisconsin debacle last Jan. 1. Quarterback Bob Schloredt, back for the first time since breaking a collarbone last Oct. 15, halfbacks Don McKeta and George Fleming and fullback Ray Jackson led the Washington attack.

Center Roy McKasson and tackles Kurt Genger and Barry Bullard stood their ground against a heavier Minnesota line.

Schloredt, the first player ever to be chosen most valuable player twice in a row in Rose Bowl history, passed three yards to Brent Wooten for one score and got another on a quarterback sneak, setting up the latter with a 31-yard run.

McKeta's two key defensive plays against Gopher quarterback Sandy Stephens deep in Washington territory also were key factors. He threw him for a 13-yard loss on a third-down play at the Huskies' 6 and then on the next play intercepted his pass on the 300 yard line.

Fleming kicked a record (school 264 and Rose Bowl) 44-yard field goal and gave the Minnesota defense 165 fits with his outside running as Washington piled up a 17-0 half-time lead before 97,314.

Missouri, while holding Belting 65 on the ground, saw him make a 51 spectacular grab of a 27-yard punt return touchdown pass by Hal Spooner.

U.S., Cuba Relations More Frayed

By RICHARD VALERIANI

HAVANA (AP)—U.S.-Cuban relations grew more frayed today with a drastic order from Prime Minister Fidel Castro for a slash of the U.S. Embassy staff here to 11 by Wednesday night.

In a wrathful prelude to the U.N. Security Council meeting Wednesday, when Cuba will air new charges that the United States plans to invade Cuba, Castro declared the U.S. Embassy was filled with spies directing counter-revolutionaries.

He said the U.S. staff would be reduced to the same number that Cuba maintains in its embassy in Washington.

Porker Grid Fan Dies on Train

DALLAS (AP)—An Arkansas football fan, William B. Edington, 52, of Moro, was found dead of an apparent heart attack on a special Texas and Pacific train taking football fans from Arkansas to Dallas for Monday's Cotton Bowl game.

Edington's widow found her husband dead about 6 a.m. as the train neared Dallas. She said he complained of chest pains for two or three months.

LINED OUT OF OFFICE

PENDLETON, Ore. (AP) — Councilman Jack Stangler told the City Council he had heard reports he lived outside the city limits and thus was not eligible to be a member of the council.

The council ordered a survey, found the city limits ran through his living room and said that Stangler, indeed, was not eligible to be a member.

Thousands of Castro's followers massed in Civic Plaza roared their approval with shouts of "Cuba si, Yankees no" and with demands that the United States give up its naval base at Guantanamo in eastern Cuba.

At the big glass-walled U.S. Embassy, Charge d'Affaires Daniel Braddock got his first word of the order to reduce the staff from 87 to 11 as he watched Castro on television.

Six months ago there were 120 on the staff. U.S. Ambassador Philip Bonsal was recalled last October and embassy wives and children were sent home last September. Cuba has not had an ambassador in Washington for months.

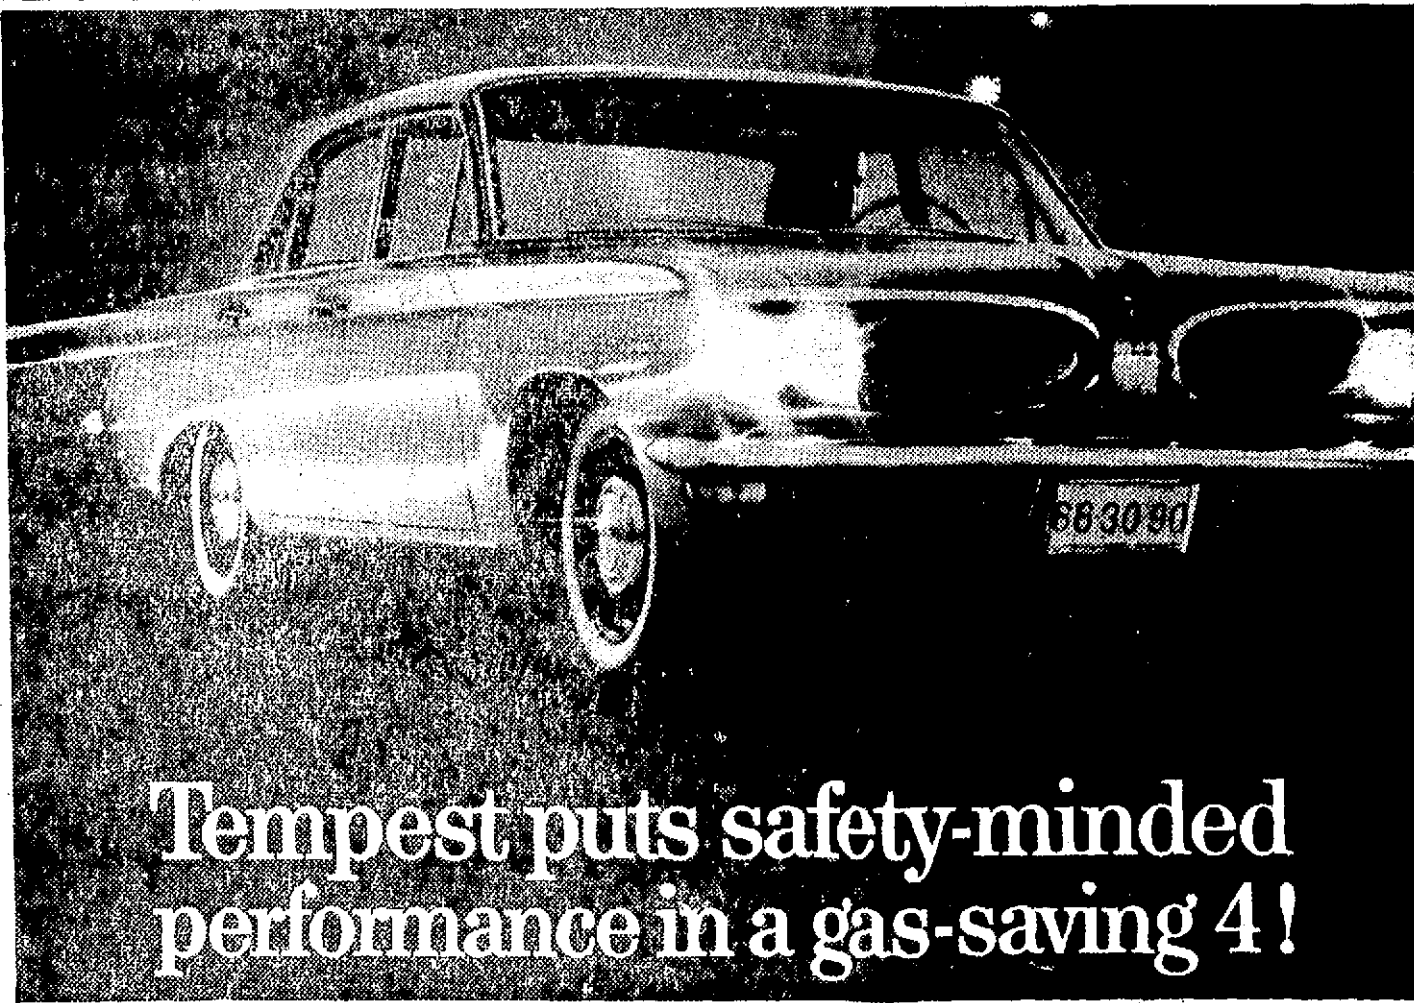

The embassy said it was awaiting official notification whether Castro's order meant to cut the staff to 11 persons in all or to 11 officials plus secretaries and other non-diplomatic personnel.

The embassy said it will be necessary to reduce its services to the minimum. The visa section was closed today to await instructions from the State Department. About 50,000 Cubans have visa applications on file.

Castro spoke on the second anniversary of his revolution after staging the biggest military show in Cuban history in the plaza. For seven hours he reviewed soldiers and militiamen showing off weapons from the Soviet bloc, including 54 heavy tanks, 155mm and 105mm artillery and six-barreled rocket launchers.

At the tail of the parade was what was labeled as a reconstruction of parts of the U.S. rocket fired from Cape Canaveral last Nov. 30 and destroyed because of a malfunction. The display included a 30-foot dented section with U.S. Air Force markings.

At a reception in Moscow on the Cuban anniversary Soviet Premier Khrushchev picked up the Cuban charge that the United States was planning an invasion by Jan. 18 to wipe out alleged Soviet rocket bases being constructed in Cuba.
